Dear Dr. Hager,

Authors need not obtain permission for the following uses of material they have published in PNAS: (1) to use their original figures or tables in their future works; (2) to make copies of their papers for their classroom teaching; or (3) to include their papers as part of their dissertations.

Of course, citation to the original source should be included and copies should include the copyright notice of the original report [full journal reference and "Copyright (copyright year) National Academy of Sciences, U.S.A."].

Please feel free to contact us with any additional questions you might have.

Best regards,
